

Jutta Kleinschmidt

“Success is having a goal and achieving it!”

The qualified physicist and author (“Mein Sieg bei der Dakar”) is one of the world’s most successful women in motorsport. She is the first and so far only woman to win the toughest and longest rally in the world, the Dakar Rally. In her talks, Jutta Kleinschmidt motivates her audience to trust themselves and the team, and to take risks for success. She vividly and enthrallingly describes how dedication, perseverance, ambition, creativity and courage helped her achieve success in a male-dominated field. Listeners learn how Jutta Kleinschmidt motivates herself and her team to embark on new challenges, and that disappointments can have positive impacts. She applies her experiences gained in limit-pushing situations here. Extremes are her passion: Jutta Kleinschmidt has had her helicopter pilot’s licence since 2004, and also enjoys bike racing. In 2003, she cycled across the Alps, and in 2004 participated in the Race Across America cycling marathon. She offers her audiences new approaches and inspiration for their personal and professional life. Jutta Kleinschmidt has long-time speaking experience. Benefit from practical examples for your daily business.
